MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

General Walters called this morning at 10:30 a.m. to report on his meeting. The contact had asked for the meeting to advise Walters that he would be leaving shortly on a vacation for one or two weeks. He did not indicate his destination but the implication was clear that he was going home. He specifically wished to introduce a friend to General Walters who General Walters should feel free to talk with. He indicated that the friend might have a message for General Walters sometime during his absence on vacation. There was no reference during the meeting to previous conversations nor was any time set for further talks. The meeting was pleasant but nothing of substance was discussed.

I passed to General Walters the request that he return for two or three days in the next week or two. Walters expressed concern that he needed some sort of instructions to clear him with his own headquarters but will see what can be done to work this problem out. He noted that he was committed to go to Brussels on 4-5 June and to accompany the Ambassador to the Normandy Landings ceremony on 6 June.
